

Roof Tents At a Glance

Folding Roof Tent

Consists of two base panels that fold open along the long side. When set up, it resembles a classic ground tent.

Advantages:

- Very spacious with covered area next to the vehicle
- Large sleeping area & pleasant sense of space thanks to windows and height
- Lighter and more affordable than hard shell tents
- Compact packed size when closed

Hard Shell Roof Tent

Closed like a roof box. Setup is quick and easy via gas struts.

Advantages:

- Extremely fast setup and takedown
- Less tent fabric → dries faster in bad weather
- Requires little parking space
- Robust hardtop protects even off-road

Hybrid Roof Tent

Compact like a hard shell tent, but setup similar to a folding roof tent – combines both systems.

Advantages:

- Aerodynamic & robust
- Fast setup and takedown
- Dries quickly due to reduced fabric surface
- More space than a hard shell tent

Everything Included – Standard Accessories

In addition to high-quality workmanship and easy handling, the right accessories are essential for a good roof tent. That's why many items are already included as standard for a relaxed start into your adventure.

Telescopic Ladder

With angled steps for comfortable barefoot use. Up to 230 cm length, compactly collapsible, optionally available in 260 cm. Load capacity up to 150 kg.

Accessory Bag

Contains everything you need for mounting on your crossbars.

Shoe Bag & Organizer

Shoe bags as well as organizers or cargo nets are integrated in all roof tents and keep the interior tidy.

Protective Cover

Included with folding roof tents and protects the tent during travel from wind and weather.

Not required for hard shell and hybrid tents, as the solid outer shell provides protection.

LED Lighting

Continuously dimmable LED lighting with USB connection inside the tent.

Mattress

Depending on the model, comfortable memory foam or air mattresses are already included.

Mesh Underlay

Standard in most roof tents.
